

LINDBERGH POPULARITY STILL AT HIGH POINT

DAVID LAWRENCE.

Washington — "Lindbergh — Six Months After." This might well be the title of the extraordinary scene in which President Coolidge and virtually the entire group of fliers who have survived the flights on the Atlantic and Pacific participated here Monday night.

It was extraordinary, indeed unprecedented, because if anybody thought the climax of the Lindbergh enthusiasm came six months ago the cheering, whistling, yelling thousands of what ordinarily constitutes a phlegmatic Washington audience craved such an impression the moment the slim young flier of world fame entered the auditorium.

Not once did the cheering fail to emphasize the national emotion. Lindbergh above all others in the group. There were dozens of opportunities for enthusiasm when the pictures were thrown on the screen showing the reception in Washington navy yard, then New York and then in other parts of the country. But in every case the crowd seemed to want to cheer even more.

What was particularly significant was the way the audience responded when Assistant Secretary McCracken of the Aeronautics Section of the Department of Commerce, mentioned in his address that Lindbergh had not exploited his journey for commercial gain. Somehow the crowd liked that remark even more than the formal words of praise that came from the other speakers. It really threw light on the continuing admiration for Lindbergh as the nation's hero, as he was thoroughly satisfied that his feat was one of sheer patriotism and that his paramount interest in going about the country is to advance the cause of aviation.

STILL SELF-EFFACING

Colonel Lindbergh hasn't acquired a bit of hero consciousness in six months. He is the same modest, self-effacing athlete of the air that he was six months ago. It can be seen that public speaking is an ordeal endured with considerable uneasiness. He speaks haltingly as if trying to apply a bit of expression to his monotonous. But his speech is so brief that the crowd listens eagerly and applauds all the more because he hasn't for a moment "stepped out of the part." He has not become a self-conscious orator or a systematic poster declaimer of the merits of aviation. He is a mere school boy talking, but with a conviction and sincerity and a record of performance that makes the meaning of his words rather than his elocution of importance to the crowd.

Medals and decorations galore have come his way. One would have thought

CONSIDER CENSURE VOTE IN BRITISH COAL ISSUE

London — (AP) — Consideration of a vote of censure on the government for neglect of the coal problem was the principal business before the house of commons Wednesday. Former Premier Ramsay MacDonald moved the resolution. The resolution called attention to the growing difficulties in the coal industry and increasing distress and unemployment among the miners. It called for immediate constructive action to bring about efficient organization of the industry and also asked that distress and unemployment be dealt with.

OIL WELL IN FLAMES, MAN BURNED TO DEATH

Earlsboro, Okla. — (AP) — After running wild for a week, a Twin Stars Oil company well near here burst into flames shortly after midnight, cremating one man and causing damage estimated at more than $150,000. Efforts to control the fire were unsuccessful.

43 NUNS AND 75 GIRLS FLEE BURNING BUILDING

Grand Rapids, Mich. — (AP) — Routed from their beds Monday morning by fire, 43 nuns and 75 girls fled to safety into nearby residences. Damage was estimated at $75,000.

EXPECT 35 WILL ATTEND FIRST SCOUT LEADER CLASS

Between 35 and 40 persons interested in scout activities and the scout program in Appleton and Neenah-Menasha, are expected Wednesday evening at the first meeting of the scout leader's training course at Appleton high school. M. G. Clark, valley scout executive and several scoutmasters in the valley council will have charge of the meeting.

The leader's course is open to all scout leaders, teachers, Sunday school instructors, employers, parents and other persons interested in fundamentals and methods of administering the scout program in this district. Persons enrolling in the course will be organized into a model scout troop and will learn how to conduct meetings and carry out the scout program through games and a few study periods. The general principle of learning by doing will be followed in all work.

A fee of $2 will be charged for persons enrolling for the course to cover costs of material and literature which will be used. Meetings will begin at 7:30 o'clock each evening and adjourn promptly at 9 o'clock. Dates of the meetings are Nov. 18, 22, 25, and Dec. 2 and an overnight trip for which the date is to be selected later.

ORDER BLACKMER TO U. S. COURT

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICE FOR PORTAGE GIRL

Murder Victim Buried Today — Search for Slayer Is Widened by Officers

Portage — (AP) — A sorrowing community temporarily abandoned a man hunt Wednesday while it buried 15-year-old Helen Leng, victim of the murderer sought since Monday when the girl's body was found in an uninhabited part of the city.

The little girl who was shot to death and attacked as she was going home after dark Sunday night was buried, following services at St. Mary's Catholic church where she had devotedly attended since she was a small child. In the picturesque little brick church where she had attended services on the day she went to her sudden death she was eulogized as by the Rev. J. B. Petting, as the "little saint."

Sitting in front near the flower-banked coffin of their only child were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leng, the cynosure of their townsmen who crowded into the small church until some had to stand in the aisles.

Six boy students at the high school where Helen Leng attended were the pallbearers, while following behind the coffin were six girl classmates. One of them was June Moran, chum of the murder victim, who attended a motion picture show before hiding the girl's body as she started for the home she never reached.

FEW DEVELOPMENTS

There was few developments Wednesday in the search for the slayer, the investigation being in abeyance for a few hours while the funeral services were held.

The sheriff announced that William McLaughlin, janitor and night watchman at the high school, was asked Wednesday to recount the finding of the body on the knoll in what is known as the "trump's jungle," a few blocks from the Leng home. McLaughlin will be questioned in hope he may provide additional clues.

McLaughlin told the police heretofore that he was cutting across the jungle to the Leng home when he stumbled upon the girl's mutilated body.

One result of the girl's death has been the employment of a patrolman for the district. Joe Simpson, deputy sheriff, has been engaged by the city to patrol the district at night on a motorcycle.

The county board has offered a reward of 1,000 for the capture of the slayer, and the city council in its weekly meeting Tuesday night considered means of adding another $50 to the reward.

Finding of a man's handkerchief without any identification marks on it, some wads from shotgun shells and a survey of the spot where the girl's body was found gave officers their first clues.

The body was found Monday with shotgun wounds about the head, and with clothing torn and smeared with grime and grease.

A stoop-shouldered man who was seen near the spot where the school girl was slain, was being sought by police.

JUDGE ORDERS 'DRUNKEN' LAWYER OUT OF COURT

Hurley — (AP) — Declaring that the defendant was "intoxicated to counsel," coming here sober, County Judge James E. Flanagan Wednesday stopped the hearing of Lester "Spot" Dawson, charged with participating in the attempted holdup at Mercer, and directed that Dawson obtain some one besides Attorney Vernon J. McCale of Antigo, to defend him. McCale made objections so numerous and apparently incoherent that the court finally said: "You keep still, or I'll have the sheriff take you to the county jail." Roy Johnson, deputy sheriff of Rhineland, was on the witness stand Wednesday morning and told of how he became a party to the plans for robbing the Northern hotel at Mercer a few weeks ago and how, before making the trip with Dawson and several others, he was made a deputy sheriff by Sheriff Brocker of Oneida-co.

Bigamous Marriage Held As Clew In Murder Case

Highlands, N. J. — (AP) — Stories of two women that they were the wives of Herbert O. Meisternknecht, inventor and engineer, who was shot dead while telephoning in his work shop, were regarded as furnishing a motive that dovetailed with statements attributed to a brother-in-law sought as the slayer.

Police said that Alex Schreiber, a brother of Mrs. Sophie Meisternknecht, had charged that the inventor's marriage to his sister was bigamous, Irving Parker, a lobbyist, said Schreiber had run from the workshop after the shooting, and handed him a card with his name and address on it, with the words "I have shot my brother-in-law."

Mrs. Susan Meisternknecht, coming from Yonkers with her 15-year-old daughter, told police she had never

Stupid To Compare Negro And Dry Law, Glass Says

Washington — (AP) — The position of the south on Negro suffrage, as contrasted with its attitude toward prohibition, is again in dispute on capitol hill.

Senator Glass, Democrat, Virginia, sees no inconsistency in southerners' attitude toward the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments. Giving Negroes citizenship and the right of voting, and in their position toward enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. Senator Dorah, Republican, Idaho, would have all enforced alike. Their views were expressed in letters made public Tuesday night.

Replying to an editorial in the New York World, the Virginian, declared it was "stupid" to draw an analogy between the south's views on the two subjects. The fourteenth and fifteenth amendments, he said, were born in the passions of the war and constituted "an attempt to destroy white civilization in nearly unbroken of the country and to erect on its ruins an Ethiopian state, ignorant, profligate, corrupt."

On the other hand, he asserted, the prohibition amendment had been duly ratified by 46 of the 48 states and legal machinery for its enforcement provided.

His letter was written to William H. Clayton, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Writing to Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, Senator Dorah, declared he would lend his support to any effort to have the Republican national convention pledge itself to enforcement not only of the prohibition law, as he had previously recommended, but of the Negro suffrage amendments as well.

ADOPT PROGRAM ON U. S. FLOOD CONTROL

Mississippi Association Would Co-ordinate Safety and Power Projects

St. Louis — (AP) — The Mississippi Valley association, in the closing session of the ninth annual convention Tuesday unanimously committed itself to a general policy that will urge conversion of the nation's waterway system from a menacing master to an utilitarian servant.

Resolutions adopted by nearly a thousand delegates, representing many states urged that flood control plans, to be worked out by the federal engineering agencies, take first place in the waterways project; that the navigation improvement program on inland waterways and harbors should be co-ordinated and continued with flood control measures and not subordinated and advocated the promotion of waterways transportation.

The resolutions ask that both the major political parties, in their coming conventions, draft in their prospective platforms planks "approving" the development of far inland waterways for navigation and flood control.

James E. Smith, of St. Louis, for many years president of the association, was re-elected. Cleveland A. Newton, former of Missouri congressman, was named by the executive committee as general counsel for the association, a newly created office. Directors elected included F. W. Sisson, and Mayor J. J. Verchota. La Crosse, and Col. John J. Hannan, Madison.

INNOCENT OF CRIME, BUT FORCED TO FLEE, HE SAYS

Milwaukee — (AP) — Fear that he might be arrested for a crime of which he said he was innocent but of which he said could not vindicate himself was believed Wednesday to be the motive behind the disappearance of Otis Frey, secretary-treasurer of the Leo Abraham company, Milwaukee firm.

Discovery of a letter to friends by authorities brought this conclusion. In the letter, Fred said: "I have been accused of a crime that I am not in a position to vindicate myself from. The stigma on a name that I have always been proud of makes it useless to continue." Frey's automobile was found in a deserted tract near Devil's lake, near Baraboo.

LENROOT LAUDS WORK OF MILK FEDERATION

Milwaukee — (AP) — Ability of the National Cooperative Milk Producers' federation to gain legislation in congress has been partly due to the fact that the organization has never been used for political purposes or to further political ambitions, former Senator Irvine L. Lenroot told delegates Tuesday.

Senator Lenroot, author of the Lenroot-Talbot milk bill, said that he believed it would be a "great day for the United States" when all other farm organizations follow the lead of the milk producers in avoidance of political affiliations. The senseless and practicality of the measures backed by the federation was pointed out by Senator Lenroot.

AMERICAN-BELGIAN PAIR STILL LEAD BIKE RACE

Detroit — (AP) — Tony Beckman and Gerard Debaets, American-Belgian pair maintained the lead in the annual six day bike race here Wednesday after more than 500 miles of riding. The leaders were four days ahead of the runner-up team, Marcellar and Faudet, representing France.

LAKE SHIPPING AT STANDSTILL IN HEAVY GALE

Six-foot Snowdrifts Piled Up in Places Between Superior and Ashland

Milwaukee — (AP) — Destruction of fishing boats and lake docks, paralysis of traffic and communication and possibly the loss of a life were left in the wake of the blizzard that swept down upon northern Wisconsin from Monday to Wednesday.

At Superior Wednesday traffic was being resumed after all available snow plows had been pressed into service to clear the streets. Snow was about eight inches in depth while in some places the drifts were four feet high. Ice, the first of the season, covered the Duluth-Superior harbor Wednesday morning. Drifts of six feet were piled in places between Superior and Ashland.

The fate of Frank Monte, an Indian who went outdoors to chop wood on the outskirts of Odenah Monday and never returned, is unknown. Sheriff Edward Dornady of Ashland, has organized a posse to scour the woods for the man. The blinding snowstorm is believed to have isolated Monte in the dense woods near the village.

Laake Superior Waves, lashed into fury by northeast gale, struck the coast at Ashland and caused hundreds of dollars worth of damage. Fishermen reported the loss of boats, docks and fishing equipment.

26 KNOWN DEAD IN PITTSBURG BLAST

At Least 32 Persons Missing as Result of Explosion Monday Morning

Pittsburg — (AP) — Working amid piles of twisted steel and broken brick, workmen clearing away the wreckage caused by the explosion of the monster gas tank of the Equitable Gas company, had uncovered four bodies in the ruins of the Pittsburg Clay Pot company plant. The discovery and the death of Edwin Smith, 75, in a hospital, of injuries brought the known toll to 26 with at least 32 missing. The plant building flooded at the cellar level, gave up two bodies after firemen pumped the water out.

More bodies may remain in the wreckage, and the search continued Wednesday. Officials of the pottery company said that 32 of their employees were missing. It was believed possible that some might have escaped, and failed to report they were safe.

Many of the blast-shaken buildings were declared unsafe, and were being razed. Owners unable to bear the expense will be aided by a city appropriation of $100,000.

The repair or reconstruction of the three gas tanks of the Equitable company, all badly damaged, will not be permitted until investigation by the city council until it determines whether the storing or explosive gas within the city limits is safe.

The blast early Monday morning did damage estimated at millions of dollars, and, in addition to the death list, injured 500 or more persons.

POLICE CONTINUE HUNT FOR GRAEF GIRL SLAYER

Milwaukee — (AP) — Police Wednesday were redoubling their efforts to find the slayer of 19-year-old Lillian Graef, Milwaukee girl, whose body was found in a creek in Waukesha-co.

As a result of the solution of the Greenwaldt murder mystery, police were able to center their attention on the Graef murder case and are now concentrating on the search for the man who accompanied Lillian on a "blind" date five weeks ago.

SPECIAL SESSION MUST AWAIT INSPECTION TRIP

Madison — (AP) — Call for a special session of the legislature to provide for the needs of the state institutions where appropriations were voted by Governor Fred Zimmerman following the regular session, must await inspection of these institutions, the governor said Wednesday morning. It is likely, he said, that his inspection will be completed early in December so that the session may be called at that time.

ANNUL WEALTHY GIRL'S MARRIAGE TO RUSSIAN

White Plains, N. Y. — (AP) — The marriage of Florence Marjorie Clendenin, daughter of Joseph Clendenin, millionaire copper man, to Baron George Tornow, a Russian refugee, was annulled by Supreme Court Justice Lynch Wednesday. The annulment resulted from a referee's recommendation based on testimony that Baron Tornow, former colonel in the Russian imperial army, had misrepresented his financial status and was illegally in the country.

Cudahy Board Explains Ousting Of School Head

Milwaukee — (AP) — The Cudahy school board was drawn up in battle formation Wednesday, ready to defend itself against further verbal attacks by parents of pupils who are on strike because of the ouster of Edward C. Seifert, superintendent of Cudahy public schools.

The school board fired its first volley Tuesday night when it issued a statement declaring that insubordination, breach of contract and failure to economize are the reasons for Seifert's dismissal.

Meanwhile, the 300 student strikers stood firm. While C. R. Ames, who presided at a press-meeting Monday night declared that if the board did not resign or reinstate Seifert by Wednesday afternoon, another assembly would be held.

Paul Miller, president, speaking for the school board, charged that Nov. 4, while Seifert and five teachers were being paid to attend the Wisconsin Teachers' association meeting, they spent the afternoon in the sheriff's office, trying to secure the dismissal of John Shrank, clerk of the school board, as deputy sheriff.

Other charges against Seifert were that he took a six-week vacation without permission of the board and failed to answer registered communications; opposed women's organizations and had his old contract, which had one year to run at $3,700 rescinded and in its place secured a new contract for three years at $5,000. The increase was not approved by citizens of Cudahy, Miller said.

President Miller charged that Seifert dominated the old school board and that the people of Cudahy were disappointed that many board members were defeated for reelection. Seifert burned the lights in his office on "sunny" days and sent special delivery letters to a janitor in a school that had to be passed to take the letter to the postoffice, the school board president averred.

BETZOLD PLANNED TO BLACKMAIL PLOTTER IN WOMAN'S MURDER

Waupun — (AP) — Arthur Richard Betzold, confessed slayer of Mrs. Emma Greenwaldt and now a prisoner in the state penitentiary, agreed to murder Mrs. Greenwaldt for $300, but he planned to collect enough in blackmail to live in comfort in Milwaukee, they say.

If Greenwaldt had not confessed, he would have been Betzold's "slave" the rest of his life, Betzold said. He had planned, he said, to turn his efforts toward blackmailing the husband of the slain woman who wanted to collect $25,000 in insurance.

Betzold's mother, who says she "can't understand" her son's committing the murder, was to visit him Wednesday.

Greenwaldt has been placed in a cell house far removed from that occupied by Betzold and will be separated from him through the years, prison officials said. The two men may meet occasionally on the recreation grounds, at chapel services or in the prison dining room, but they will have little opportunity to converse.

BECK FAVORED FOR GOVERNOR IN 1928 RACE

La Follette Progressives Name Candidate After Four-hour Deadline

Milwaukee — (AP) — By a margin of two votes, LaFollette Progressives endorsed Congressman J. D. Beck of Viroqua, as their candidate for governor of Wisconsin in 1928, at a state conference held here Tuesday.

Beck's selection came after a four-hour deadlock, in which Herman Ekern, former attorney general and defeated gubernatorial candidate, and Lieutenant Governor Henry H. Huber, Stoughton, were opponents.

Three ballots were taken. Beck, leading Ekern by two votes in the first and third ballot. At the end of the third ballot he was acclaimed as the Progressive candidate. The sessions of delegates from all parts of Wisconsin were held behind doors, barred to newspapermen. Results were announced by a publicity man.

OTHER OFFICERS

Besides selecting the candidate for governor, the convention decided to back Senator LaFollette and all minor state officers for reelection in 1928 — Lieutenant Governor Huber, State Treasurer Sol Levitan, Attorney General John M. Reynolds and Secretary of State Theodore Dammann.

Choice of Levitan to succeed himself indicated that he had acquiesced in demands that he withdraw from the gubernatorial race.

In voting for candidates for governor, it was announced delegates cast 49 votes to Beck and 25 for Ekern on the first ballot; 39 for Beck and 39 for Huber on the second ballot, and 33 for Beck, 33 for Ekern and one for Huber on the third ballot. Levitan did not receive a vote.

The conference was attended by 58 LaFollette Progressive candidates from all parts of Wisconsin and was presided over by Senator Robert M. LaFollette, Jr.

EXCHANGE BLOWS IN POLITICAL ROW

Former Governor and Would-be Governor of Louisiana in Hotel Battle

New Orleans — (AP) — A torn shirt sleeve and a cuff button have become symbolic differences which led to a fist fight Tuesday between a Louisiana gubernatorial candidate, Huey O. Long, and a former governor of the state, J. L. Sanders. From the lobby of the Roosevelt hotel, the scene shifted Tuesday night to a political rally where Long was campaigning.

Holding aloft a shirt sleeve from which dangled a cuff button, Long announced he was keeping the trophy he said he had torn from the arm of his opponent "for Sanders or his friends to come and get."

A number of the audience volunteered.

"Why didn't you hold Sanders instead of running away from him? I'll come and get the cuff button if you want me to." The man started toward the speaker's stand, but was arrested.

Long declared after the fight in the Roosevelt lobby that he struck Sanders when the former governor called him a "liar," while Sanders commenced a fight on the floor after he had met Long in the dining room and accused Long of making a false campaign statement about him.

Onlookers declared that the fist-cuffs began in the Venetian room of the hotel, and continued in an elevator, where the combat was quelled by friends and attendants of the hotel.

SEEKS BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR AMERICAN FARMER

Cleveland, Ohio — (AP) — Discouraging the idea that the American farmer ever will be reduced to the status of a peasant, Louis J. Taven, master of the national farmers' union, will follow the nation's "dark cloud" in an address before the national convention Wednesday.

Predictions that the nation will go hungry because the farmer has failed to keep step with mechanical and scientific progress are untrue, Mr. Taven said.

"Much that will never happen is predicted about the farmer," he said. "The American farmer will never become a peasant. Despite the present dark cloud, the future shows a silver lining of an efficient and prosperous agriculture."

OIL WITNESS

FACING LOSS OF PROPERTY

Man Now in Paris Must Appear or Forfeit $100,000 to Government

MAIL PAPERS TO COUNSEL

Future Action in Teapot Dome Case Up to Grand Jury and Siddons

Washington — (AP) — Determined to force the issue against unwilling witnesses in the oil case, the government Wednesday obtained a ruling from the courts directing H. M. Blackmer to show cause why he should not be held in contempt, and the same time ordering Blackmer's property to the extent of $100,000 to be seized.

Blackmer, who is in France, has refused to respond to subpoenas and his counsel indicated when the Fall-Sinclair trial was in progress that he considered the Walsh law, under which seizures may be made, was unconstitutional. The procedure now would be for the United States marshal to locate the property while the case is fought out in the courts.

The ruling Wednesday, by Justice Siddons, ordered Blackmer to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt by Jan. 6. It was mailed to Blackmer's counsel and will be served upon him and advertised in the newspapers.

CONNECTED WITH FIRM

The testimony of the western oil man was sought by the government, especially in connection with the formation of the Continental Trading company Ltd., Canada, through which passed the $200,500 in Liberty bonds, which the government claims found their way to Albert B. Fall after he had leased the Teapot Dome navy reserve to Harry F. Sinclair. Another missing witness is James E. O'Neill, also an oil man who is said to be somewhere in Europe.

Wednesday's court action was taken during a lull in the investigation of jury tampering charges which caused mistrial of the Fall-Sinclair case and occurred at the reappearance at the courthouse of Owen J. Roberts, of special oil counsel, who has remained in the background since the mistrial was ordered.

The action against Blackmer was based on a statute passed at the last session of congress. Its author was Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who made the original charges of fraud in the oil leasing negotiations and later prosecuted the senate oil inquiry.

COMPLETE TESTIMONY

The prosecution has completed its presentation to the grand jury which included charges that Burns detectives, acting in the interest of Harry F. Sinclair, placed the trial jury under improper surveillance and even fabricated testimony to be used should the defense seek a mistrial. Some documents remain to be shown the inquisitorial body, but the men forming the grand jury turned their attention Wednesday to other questions.

A committee appointed by Justice Siddons to see if there had been contempt of his court was preparing Wednesday to begin a separate inquiry. It was said that this committee would have power to subpoena witnesses.

REMUS FACES TEST OF TEMPORARY INSANITY

Cincinnati — (AP) — The three test of temporary insanity commonly applicable in Ohio will be applied in George Remus' murder trial as a result of a decision Wednesday by Judge Chester R. Shook.

Remus in a long and heated appeal to the bench, demanded that the tests be considered as not limited to three, but take in "possibly ten or fifteen or twenty."

The clash between Remus, appearing as his own counsel, in his trial for uxoricide, came when Charles A. Tait, II, prosecuting attorney, asked this question of Thomas Green, 70-year-old veterinarian:

"The court will charge you that there are three tests of legal insanity which the jury must apply in their consideration of this case. Will you follow this notion of the court's charge rather than any ideas of your own or commonly accepted ideas as to insanity?"

COUNTY BOARD IS URGED TO KEEP ITS APPROPRIATIONS LOW

Proposal to Enlarge Riverview Sanatorium Starts First Argument of Session

A request to keep appropriations as low as possible so that the county might be free of debt as soon as possible was made by Mike Mack, Sanatorium supervisor and chairman of the county board, at the opening session of the board at the courthouse Tuesday afternoon. The annual session is expected to last two weeks. All the supervisors were present with the exception of P. H. Ryan, Appleton, who is confined in St. Elizabeth hospital. A suggestion by Supervisor John Tracy of the Fourth ward Appleton, that the county board take some action on this session to provide an addition to Riverview sanatorium brought sharp criticism from Supervisors Anton Jansen of Little Chute and P. H. Ryan of Appleton. Mr. Tracy pointed out that the sanatorium was filled and that more room is needed.

POSTPONE ACTION

"Turn out some of the charges from other counties and there will be room enough to care for our own," Supervisor Appleton declared. He said that other counties had refused to take patients from Okauchee and that he didn't think it was fair for this county to care for charges from other counties and pay no attention to the sufferers here.

"I agree with Supervisor Appleton," Anton Jansen said. "We care for these other patients and lose money on every one."

The matter was postponed until a latter session. Several communications were received and placed on file and resolutions from other counties were laid over to the Wednesday morning session.

The matter of disposal of county-owned tax and drainage assessment certificates from land in the Black Creek Bovina drainage district was brought before the board by D. Vaughn of Wisconsin Rapids. Mr. Vaughn is the receiver for several farmers of that district which went into bankruptcy.

He told the board the lands at present were not bringing any revenue to the county and presented a resolution which would offer the land for sale at less than the amount of taxes and charges against them.

"The land is in good condition, my investigation shows," Mr. Vaughn said. "But it cannot be sold now because the taxes against them are too high. By selling these lands at a sacrifice the county will get them back on the tax lists and again receive revenue from that source."

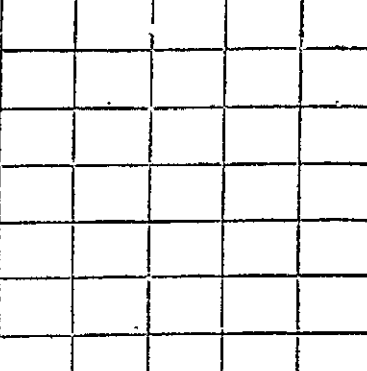

The matter was referred to the finance committee and the district attorney.

LETTER GOLF

FRIENDSHIP

The handshake reveals a person's character, it is said. The way people work puzzles also helps to tell what kind of person you are. Go from SHAKE to HANDS in fewer than eight strokes and you're smart. The solution is on page 11.

SHAKE

THE RULES

1.—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in as few a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN in three strokes. COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2.—You can change only one letter at a time.

3.—You must have a complete word of common usage for each jump. Strange words and abbreviations don't count.

NO REPRESENTATIVES AT GREAT LAKES MEETING

Appleton will not be represented at the meeting of the Great Lakes Harbor association which will be held at Toronto, Ont., Nov. 16 and 17. The city council has not favored sending a delegate and the chamber of commerce has turned down the project because the meeting is too far away. Most of the lake cities are sending delegates, according to reports, but there is considerable reluctance on the part of the inland towns to send representatives. The case of the Chicago Drainage district which is now pending in the United States supreme court will be discussed by several prominent attorneys.

Start Pin League

The first match of the Industrial Bowling league of the Y. M. C. A. will be rolled Tuesday evening at the association alley, according to A. P. Jensen, physical director. Teams representing the Interlake Pulp and Paper Co. and the Schlafer Hardware Co. will meet.

DROP ONE CHARGE AGAINST MEN HELD IN BEER RAID HERE

Three Appleton Men Bound Over for Trial on Charge of Transporting Liquor

Waiving preliminary hearing, George Hearever, Oscar Kuritz, and John Wagner, all of Appleton, were bound over for trial in federal court in Milwaukee to answer charges of transporting and possessing intoxicating liquor at a hearing Tuesday afternoon before United States Court Commissioner J. F. Watermolen at Green Bay. The men were arrested following seizure of a truck load of alleged "good beer" in the alley back of the Elk club here on Oct. 26.

The defendants and their attorneys appeared before the commissioner Tuesday to answer charges filed against them by W. Frank Cummings, Milwaukee, deputy prohibition commissioner for the eastern district of Wisconsin. The original complaint was changed and the charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act was dropped. The joint bond of $1,500 on which the men were originally released was held over to insure their appearance in Milwaukee.

William Knapstein, Frank Pagorek, and William Poyke, New London, also waived preliminary hearing before Watermolen on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act, and were bound over to the present term of federal court in Milwaukee. Edward Hetzer and Joseph Eggers, boys of high school age who were working for Knapstein, were dismissed. Several other cases were heard Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning.

John Boyd, Menominee Indian charged with cutting bars at the Washena Jail and permitting the escape of female prisoners last spring, pleaded guilty and was bound over. In default of $2,000 bail he was committed to the Milwaukee city jail.

Edward McDonald Mountain, charged with possession and sale of illicit liquor, was bound over under $500 bond. George McFarland, arrested with him, was discharged. Hearings on similar charges against James Flynn and Ed Wright, also of Mountain, will be held Dec. 6.

Complete equipment for manufacturing and bottling "genuine" Canadian ale, including fake labels and bottles, was seized at the Grass Lake plant of Ed. A. Loose, Clintonville, according to the agents. Loose will be given a hearing Dec. 6. His bond was set at $500.

George Meggers, Clear Lake, Shawano county, charged with having whiskey in his automobile, waived examination and was bound over in bonds of $500.

LINDBERGH STILL POPULAR AS EVER

with all his experience that, as he stood before President Coolidge the little evidences of stage fright might have disappeared—the fidgeting motion to rise and accept the medal or wait a moment for a cue. And in this the crowd recognizes the unsophisticated youth, whose serious expression indicates that he is not taking these high honors as a matter of course but as an even greater obligation to follow the role of aviation pioneer and not the paths of heroes who have capitalized their exploits in the commercial world.

Nobody begrudges Lindbergh the right to exploit his record for private gain but there is no expectation that he will ever do it. He seems to have been placed in the realm of those who went unselfishly into service in war time. And in a sense he continues in service today, more or less identified with the army and the various branches of the government interested in promoting aviation for national defense.

yet with the freedom of a civilian to speak his mind and develop an interest wherever possible in air transportation as an aid to civilization. Hero worship has not swayed Colonel Lindbergh from his course mapped out six months ago—he still travels it confidently, earnestly, unemotionally. And thus at the end of six months it may be recorded that a great hero is still enthroned.

TWO KIMBERLY PLACES ENTERED BY BURGLARS

Take Two Sacks of Flour from Grocery Store and 90 Pennies from Supply Office

Two business places in Kimberly were burglarized either Saturday or Sunday night and the net loss is two sacks of flour and about 90 pennies. The thefts were revealed Tuesday when John Verbeten, owner of a grocery store which had been entered, reported the matter to Sheriff Otto Zuehlke, Walter Scherck and Edwin Poole, sheriff's deputies, are investigating.

The burglars gained entrance to Verbeten's store by forcing a lock on a rear door and then opening the ware house door with homemade keys. The keys were found by Deputy Scherck in an out-house back of the grocery. The store was ransacked but nothing except the two sacks of flour was missing.

The office of the Home Supply company also was entered and ransacked but the marauders secured only 90 pennies. This theft was not reported but was investigated by the deputies when they learned of it.

This is the eighth or ninth time within the past year that the Home Supply company office has been entered. Only on one occasion, when $135 was taken, was the loss large.

It is not known whether the two places were entered Saturday or Sunday night as both thefts were discovered when the places were opened for business Monday morning.

DRUNK ADMITS GUILT

AND PAYS $10 FINE

Bert Hamilton, Appleton, was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Wednesday morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness. He was arrested about 10 o'clock Tuesday night by Officer Earl Thomas at the corner of Locust-st and College-ave.

POLICE AGAIN RUN OUT OF LICENSE APPLICATIONS

The supply of applications for car owners drivers licenses has again been exhausted at the police departments and a new supply will arrive here within the next few days. The department still has some drivers applications for those who do not own cars. John E. Hantschel, county clerk, also has a supply of applications for distribution.

FINED $25 BECAUSE HE AIMED GUN AT MAN

Kaukaunan Argues He Didn't Break Law Because Gun Was Taken Apart

Edmund Grode, Kaukauna, was fined $25 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Tuesday afternoon when he was found guilty of aiming a gun at Joseph Hopfensperger, also of Kaukauna. Grode was arrested on Oct. 30 in the town of Buchanan.

Hopfensperger alleged that Grode and his brother Willard were going along the road in their automobile and when they narrowly avoided hitting a cow in a herd which Hopfensperger was driving home, he called at them.

He charges Edmund then pointed a gun at him. Attorney Joseph Lefevre, Kaukauna, defending Grode said that the gun really couldn't be called a gun because it had been taken apart. He said the boy merely pointed the barrel at Hopfensperger. Mr. Lefevre presented Webster's dictionary to prove that a gun was not a gun unless it had the power to hurl a missile. Judge Berg ruled that the gun had not been broken apart and Grode was found guilty.

CURRIE—Vance's valet.
S. S. VAN DINE—The Narrator.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
Suspicion falls on Miss St. Clair when her gloves and handbag are found at the scene of the murder, but Vance demonstrates by measurements that the murderer must have been approximately six feet tall. Mrs. Platz tells of a box of jewelry she had seen on the table and which has since disappeared. Pfyfe tells Markham that Captain Leacock had once threatened to kill Benson.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY
CHAPTER XXV
Pfyfe looked at him coldly, but only a vacuous countenance met his gaze. "It is an acquaintance with the gentleman," he replied haughtily. "Was Colonel Ostrander present at this delightful little social affair of yours?" Vance's tone was artlessly innocent. "Now that you mention it, I believe he was," admitted Pfyfe, and lifted his eyebrows inquisitively. But Vance was again staring disinterestedly out of the window. Markham, annoyed at the interruption, attempted to re-establish the conversation on a more amiable and practical basis. But Pfyfe, though loquacious, had little more information to give. He insisted constantly on bringing the talk back to Captain Leacock, and, despite his eloquent protestations, it was obvious he attached more importance to the threat than he chose to admit. Markham questioned him for fully an hour, but could learn nothing else of a suggestive nature. When Pfyfe rose to go Vance turned from his contemplation of the outside world, and bowing affably, let his eyes rest on the other with ingenious good-nature. "Now that you are in New York, Mr. Pfyfe, would you be so kind as to be so kind as to arrive earlier, I assume that you will remain until after the investigation." Pfyfe's studied and habitual calm gave way to a look of oily astonishment. "I hadn't contemplated doing so?" "It would be most desirable—if you could arrange it," urged Markham; though I am sure he had no intention of making the request until Vance suggested it. Pfyfe hesitated, and then made an elegant gesture of resignation. "Certainly I shall remain. When you have further need of my services, you will find me at the Ansonia." He spoke with exalted condescension, and magnanimously conferred upon Markham a parting smile. But the smile did not spring from within. It appeared to have been adjusted upon his features by the unseen hands of a sculptor; and it affected only the muscles about his mouth. When he had gone Vance gave Markham a look of suppressed mirth. "Elegance, facility and golden candor," he murmured. "But put not your faith in poetry, old dear. Our Ciceronian friends is an unmitigated fashioner of deceptions." "If you're trying to say that he's a smooth liar," remarked Heath, "I don't agree with you. I think that story about the captain's threat is straight goods." "Oh, that! Of course, it's true.... And, I know, Markham, the knightly Mr. Pfyfe was frightfully disappointed when you didn't insist on his revealing Miss St. Clair's name. This Leander, I fear, would never have swum the Hellespont for a lady's sake." "Whether he's a swimmer or not," said Heath impatiently, "he's given us something to go on." Markham agreed that Pfyfe's recital had added materially to the case against Leacock. "I think I'll have the captain down to my office tomorrow, and question him," he said. A moment later Major Benson entered the room and Markham invited him to join us. "I just saw Pfyfe get into a taxi," he said, when he had sat down. "I suppose you've been asking him about Alvin's affairs.... Did he help you any?" "I hope so, for all our sakes," returned Markham kindly. "By the way, Major, what do you know about a Captain Philip Leacock?" "Didn't you know? Leacock was one of the captains in my regiment—a first-rate man. He knew Alvin pretty well, I think, but my impression is they didn't hit it off very chummily.... Surely you don't connect him with this affair?" Markham ignored the question. "Did you happen to attend a party of Pfyfe's the night the captain threatened your brother?" "I went. I remember, to one or two of Pfyfe's parties," said the major. "I don't, as a rule, care for such gatherings, but Alvin convinced me it was a good business policy." He lifted his head, and frowned fixedly into space, like one searching for a elusive memory. "However, I don't recall — By George! Yes, I believe I do.... But if the instance I am thinking of is what you have in mind, you can dismiss it. We were all a little moist that night." "Did Captain Leacock draw a gun?" asked Heath. The major pursed his lips. "Now that you mention it, I think he did make some motion of the kind." "Did you see the gun?" pursued Heath. "No, I can't say that I did." Markham put the next question. "Do you think Captain Leacock capable of the act of murder?" "Hardly," Major Benson answered with emphasis. "Leacock isn't cold-blooded. The woman over whom the tiff occurred is more capable of such an act than he is." A short silence followed, broken by Vance. "What do you know, Major, about this glass of fashion and mold of form, Pfyfe? He appears a rare bird. Has he a history, or is his presence his life's document?" "Leander Pfyfe," said the major, "is a typical specimen of the modern young do-nothing — I say, young, though I imagine he's around 40. He was pampered in his upbringing — had everything he wanted, I believe; but he became restless and followed several different fads till he tired of them." "He was two years in South Africa hunting big game and I think, wrote a book recounting his adventures. Since then he has done nothing that I know of. He married a wealthy shrew some years ago — for her money, I imagine. But the woman's father controls the purse-strings and holds him down to a rigid allowance.... Pfyfe's a waster and an idler, but Alvin seemed to find some attraction in the man." The major's words had been careless in infection and undeliberated, like those of a man discussing a neutral matter; but all of us, I think, received the impression that he had a strong personal dislike for Pfyfe. "Not a ravishing personality,"

Here is the secret of a better flavor in your cakes!

You've met those beautiful cakes with the flat, unsatisfactory taste. You don't want that—you want a cake that tastes as good as it looks. The secret is in the flour—frequently these disappointing cakes are the result of flour made from the wrong type of wheat. Don't take chances—insist on Pillsbury's Best Flour. It will give you that delicious, delicate, unmistakable flavor that marks your truly perfect cake, because it is made only from wheat carefully selected for its full flavor. You can depend on Pillsbury's Best Flour for better flavor and more certain success with everything you bake—cakes, pies, biscuits, cookies, bread. Accept no other flour!

Points on cake making:

Sifting is one of the secrets of a perfect cake—sift your flour thoroughly. Use only the best and purest ingredients. Watch your measurements very carefully. For instance, too much flour is as bad as the wrong type of flour. If your recipe gives "cake flour" or "pastry flour" measurements, use two level tablespoons of Pillsbury's Best to every cup. Mix ingredients carefully. For better flavor and greater food value use the right type of flour—Pillsbury's Best.

what?" remarked Vance. "And he uses far too much jelly." "Suff!" supplied Leath, with a puzzled frown. "A fellow's got to have a lot of nerve to shoot big game.... And, speaking of nerve, I've been thinking that the guy who shot your brother, Major, was a mighty cool-headed proposition. He did it from the front when his man was wide awake and with a servant upstairs. That takes nerve." "Sergeant, you're positively brilliant!" exclaimed Vance. (Monday, June 17: forenoon). Though Vance and I arrived at the district attorney's office the following morning a little after 9, the captain had been waiting 20 minutes; and Markham directed Swacker to send him in at once. Captain Philip Leacock was a typical army officer, very tall—fully 6 feet, 2 inches—clean-shaven, straight and slender. His face was grave and immobile; and he stood before the district attorney in the erect, earnest attitude of a soldier awaiting orders from his superior officer. (To Be Continued)

GOOD RECORDS MADE IN BANK DEPOSITS

School Pupils Now Have Total of $27,697.09 in Banks of City

Ninety-three per cent of all the children of Appleton public schools were depositors in school thrift banks the week ending Nov. 1, according to the last banking report. The total number of pass books issued was 16,081. Eighteen withdrawals of $69.68 were made. The interest for the week amounted to $13.79. The balance now on deposit for the schools is $27,697.09.

Seven schools ranked 100 per cent in banking during the week. Columbus school having the largest number of depositors. Out of the 267 enrolled 274 deposits were made amounting to $50.60. Franklin had 262 depositors and a deposit of $31.67. Fourth Ward, 297 depositors, $23.47 deposit; Richmond, 68 depositors, $9.91 deposit; McKinley, 98 depositors, $12.75 deposit; Lincoln, 149 depositors, $29.43 deposit; and First Ward, 399 depositors, $129.81 deposit.

The remaining schools show a good record. Roosevelt junior high school had 408 depositors out of the 424 enrolled and a deposit of $84.35; Wilson junior high school had 180 out of the 223 enrolled and a deposit of $41.92; Washington school had 340 out of the 336 enrolled and a deposit of $45.91; Jefferson, 225 out of the 285 enrolled and a deposit of $28.25; Appleton high school, 625 out of 709 with a deposit of $132.19.

TWO MILES OF SNOW FENCES FOR COUNTY

Outagamie-co Has Only One-ninth as Much Snow Fence as Brown-co

A total 12,000 feet of snow fence, slightly more than two miles, will protect county highways this winter unless the county board, at its annual session which started Tuesday, appropriates money to buy more, according to county highway officials. In Brown county, roads are protected by more than 18 miles of fence. In addition to the fence put up by the county last year the Northern Transportation company installed 5,000 feet. It is expected that this company again will install the same amount this year. A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, announced this week that crews would start erecting the fence within the next week or so. The fence is put up along the road where drifts usually form. They are set back some distance from the road on long, flat stretches or above little knolls where the wind sweeps the snow into a "cut" and blocks traffic. This fence provides a wind break which causes the drifts to form beyond the road.

The 3550 ships that passed through the Panama Canal during 1926 paid a total of $24,289,603.16 of which the United States government made $10,307,948.40 in profit.

The Most Important Customer In Our Store

There's an old story about a tiny vendor of plum tarts in London who refused to permit a wealthy man to buy his day's supply, because, as he wisely stated, "I won't have any left for my regular customers."

Young as he was he had already learned the basic lesson of merchandising that it isn't the one or two big sales that count, but the "regular customers" who will make or break a business.

The J. C. Penney Company have built up this store with the help of the "regular customer." Mothers often bring their newly-married daughters here, knowing that our spirit of helpful service will assist them in the problems of their new home.

REFERENDUM STILL SAFEGUARDING VOTE IN UNITED STATES

Politicians Wait but Direct Self-government Grows More Popular

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—One often hears that we, the people of the United States, are a dumb lot, incompetent to govern ourselves and hence allowing our selves to be governed by an assortment of grafters, fourflushers and plutocrats.

The fact seems to be, however, that when we get our hooks into an opportunity for more direct self-government, we generally hang on as despite all efforts to loosen our grip. As voters, we may make mistakes, but when we know what we want we get it to the extent permitted us.

These references, of course, are principally to the initiative and referendum system and the direct primary. Thirty-eight states nominate national or state candidates, or both, by the primary system. Since 1924, Montana and North Carolina have abandoned the presidential primary and Vermont, Iowa and Minnesota had discarded it previously. Courts have acted against the primary laws in Alabama and Texas. But not one of the 38 states has thrown the primary overboard as a whole and it is becoming more and more popular despite the means of professional politicians.

POWER TO PEOPLE

Similarly, 18 states have the initiative and referendum in practical operation and none of them has abandoned it.

The primary allows the voters to choose party candidates instead of being forced to elect hand-picked men and the initiative and referendum allows them to initiate legislation which may be denied by an incompetent or corrupt legislature or to repeal legislation already passed.

Both systems, in operation for years, have shown weaknesses. They are susceptible even to corruption, but not dangerously so. They are sometimes influenced by heavily financed propaganda, especially if there is no effective altruistic mouthpiece to reach the voters. But both leave the decision with the voters and not with a small group of politicians.

The primary has taken a seemingly more important part in the national scene than the I. & R., but it seems safe to predict that the latter eventually will become a much greater influence. Referendums are held on issues. Elections center on men. To-day there seem to be no real partisan issues between the two big national parties and the same condition is often reflected in the states.

COMPLICATE ISSUES

Such issues as are mixed up in election campaigns only serve to complicate them to the end that it is often difficult to tell which issues the voters repudiated or endorsed, regardless of who was elected. Then again, many of the important issues are straddled because of their tendency to split parties—prohibition being a classic example, of course. It does seem likely that the people will decide more and more of these issues for themselves at the ballot box, instead of being forced to choose from two hedge-podge conglomerations of issues between insincere candidates.

Voters in 36 states voted directly on 191 measures last year, two-thirds of them proposals to amend state institutions. Judson King, director of the National Popular Government League, who wrote many of the state I. & R. laws, says that of the measures voted on during 1926 in I. & R. states:

"Thirty-six related to changes in the structure of government, or the administration of government, or the processes of political action; twenty had to do with changes in the taxation system or the rate and methods of taxation; four related to public ownership or regulation of public utilities; ten dealt with education, including both the universities and public school systems; six were anti-prohibition; four were concerned with farm and labor legislation."

REFUSED PAY BOOSTS

Voters have generally refused in these referenda to increase the salaries of public officials and show a strong tendency to improve bond issues. They voted progressively 39 times and conservatively 15 times in 1926, when the results could be so classified, according to King.

No one, apparently, has yet been bold enough to initiate a petition for referendum designed to abolish the I. & R. itself. But certain interests in Maine, identified with the Insull power interests, assembled enough signatures to obtain a referendum on whether the direct primary should be abolished. The pro-Insull folks wanted to nominate their own man and gave the proposal to abolish the primary a severe drubbing.

Friends of the I. & R. over the country are not always 100 per cent enthusiastic for it. This probably is because sometimes their measures win and sometimes the other fellow's are approved. But they all seem to agree that its principal value is a deterrent against legislation which would not meet popular approval.

In Maine, and elsewhere, the I. & R. is known as "The Gun Behind the Door."

THE POST-CRESCENT Melody Way CLUB

SECOND LESSON

Copyright, 1927, by W. Otto Miesner

Did you join the procession of Music Makers last week on the Song Road to Music along the Melody Way? I trust you found it interesting, easy and pleasant!

Let us review the steps you have taken up to this point.

1. You have learned to feel time.
 - (a) By speaking the words of two pieces.
 - (b) By marching and tapping with the foot.
 - (c) By drumming the rhythm of the Melody on the table as you count one, two, one, two.
2. You know the tone-names of the Melody.
3. You know the letter names of the Key-Board.
4. You know the names of your fingers.
5. You know how to use your fingers using:
 - (a) Arm-weight touch.
 - (b) Forward rocking thrust.
 - (c) Sidewise rotating motion.
6. You can play the Melody on the Key-Board and at the piano:
 - (a) With the Right Hand.
 - (b) With the Left Hand.

Follow the Notes

If you have succeeded in playing "Magic Music" in the Left Hand Melody, as well as the Right Hand, smoothly and evenly, you may now try it with each hand separately while your eyes follow the notes. The notes for the Right Hand Melody are on the five-line staff above the words. Over each note is the number of the finger you must use. Under each word is the tone-name of the musical scale which is sung to it. Remember that, in these first pieces, each finger always plays the same Melody tone. Therefore, when you speak or sing the tone-name of a note it will help you to use the right finger for it.

Quarter and Half Notes

Notice that some of the note-heads are black while others are white. The black-head note is called a quarter note and gets one tap or count. The white-head note is called a half note and gets two taps or counts. It will help you to learn "To A River," your new piece for today, if you will first practice the following motifs from "Magic Music." Memorize them by repeating the tone-names and the letter names. Also play them on the table and at the Key-Board. Ask some one to point to the motifs, skipping about, while you name and play them instantly without a break.

Right Hand—Treble Clef

When you read and play these music-motifs you will know tone-words just as you know the English words that you are reading in this lesson. You will enjoy finding these motifs in many other pieces, although they may appear in a different order. Knowing them by hand, by sound and by sight will help you to learn many new pieces. You will be pleased to find some of them in your next piece, "To A River."

Left Hand—Bass Clef

There are four short phrases in this piece for the Right Hand and then the same four phrases are played by the Left Hand. The new thing you must learn to do is to play the four eighth notes which are played two to each tap or count, like this:

"To A River"

There are four short phrases in this piece for the Right Hand and then the same four phrases are played by the Left Hand. The new thing you must learn to do is to play the four eighth notes which are played two to each tap or count, like this:

Feel the Time
Tap—	Heel	Toe	Heel
Count—	2	2	2
(1)	Riv	er	ev
(2)	er	ev	er
(3)	er	ev	er
(4)	er	ev	er

You may now try to play each phrase, without stopping, first playing the Right Hand, then the Left Hand. Then you may try playing the Melody with both hands together. R. H. means Right Hand; L. H. means Left Hand.

- First—On the Table.
- Second—On the paper Key-Board.
- Third—At the Piano.

FIRST PHRASE
Words—	(1) Riv	er	ev
Tones—	Do	Re	Mi
R. H.—	1	2	3

SECOND PHRASE
Words—	(2) Flow	ing	So
Tones—	So	Mi	Do
R. H.—	5	3	1

THIRD PHRASE
Words—	(3) Riv	er	ev
Tones—	Do	Re	Mi
R. H.—	1	2	3

FOURTH PHRASE
Words—	(4) From	a	ti
Tones—	So	fa	mi
R. H.—	5	4	3

The figure, So Mi, may be played with the rotating hand touch. You should practice the three different groups separately until each is played perfectly, without a break.

The Left Hand Melody

Tap—	Heel	Toe	Heel	Toe
Count—	1	2	1	2
(5)	Are you	nev	er	qui
(6)	qui	et	qui	et
(7)	Are you	nev	er	qui
(8)	Are you	nev	er	still?

Since the Melody for the Left Hand is exactly like the Right Hand Melody you should now be able to play this by following the words and tone names as found in the printed piece. Notice that the music page shows the words, the tones, the fingers and the notes.

Drum the Rhythm

You should practice drumming the new rhythms in "To A River." The groups of two notes, with a horizontal bar joining the stems, are called eighth notes, played two to one count.

Count 1 2 1 2

Drum (c)

Drum (d)

Also practice drumming the two "Magic Music" rhythms:

Count 1 2 1 2

Drum (a)

Drum (b)

You now have learned the following two-beat rhythmic figures:

Count 1 2

Drum (1)

Drum (2)

Drum (3)

See how many four-beat motifs you can make up by arranging these figures in different orders.

Read the Notes

After you have played the Melody, "To A River" with each hand the following three ways:

1. On the Table.
2. On the Key-Board.
3. At the Piano.

you should repeat this while your eyes follow the notes. Learn to know, at a single glance, the three melodic groups called motifs, which make up the whole piece.

Right Hand—Treble Clef

Now, find each of these motifs, every time it appears in "To A River." Set each motif apart from the rest of the music in the complete piece by framing it between the index fingers of your two hands. This will train your eyes to see at once all the notes of the group, which may be a motif or a figure. As your eyes "catch" each motif at a glance (like a printed word) repeat aloud:

1. The tone names
2. The letter names
3. The finger numbers.

Review

Let us review a few things we have learned, so far. The rhythm is the "go" or movement which you can speak, drum, clap or play. A phrase is a bit of melody set to one line of the poem. A motif is part of a phrase but enough of the tune to remind you of the piece to which it belongs. A figure usually has only two, three or four tones that make musical sense but may occur in many pieces, like: So, Mi, Mi, Do. A measure is a group of two, three, four or more taps, counts or beats, indicated by bars. The measure sign at the beginning describes the kind of measure used. The upper number tells how many beats in each measure. The lower number tells which kind of note gets one count. A quarter note usually gets one count. A half note usually gets two counts. The treble clef is used on the staff for the higher notes, generally for those above (to the right of) Middle. The bass clef is used on the staff for the lower notes, generally for those below (to the left of) Middle C.

Poetical and Musical Form

In Poetry, one line is called a verse. In Music, the tune to one line is a phrase. In Poetry, two lines are called a couplet. In Music, two phrases are called a section. In Poetry, four lines are called a stanza. In Music, four phrases are called a period. It will be a great help to you to learn the form of a piece of music. Surely, you have observed that in Poetry, certain lines rhyme. Sometimes the first and second, also the third and fourth lines rhyme. We might call these lines A-A, B-B.

A—Twinkle, twinkle, little star. —
A—How I wonder what you are —
B—Up above the world so high —
B—Like a diamond in the sky —

Compare this with "Magic Music" and you will see that, in this piece the first and third, also the second and fourth lines rhyme. These lines then, might be called A-B-A-B. Rhymes make poetry easier to remember than prose.

For this reason, it will be easy for you to memorize music pieces if you think of them as arranged in forms made up of phrases, sections and periods. You think the music in phrases, instead of as separate notes. Also, it will be much easier to read and learn to play new pieces if you first analyze or study the form. You will usually find that some phrases are repeated. Knowing this, you can recognize a repeated phrase at one single glance.

In your third lesson, next week, you will learn how to play the chords that go with the Melodies of "Magic Music" and "To A River." You may begin to study these now as they appear at the bottom of the printed music of the first two lessons. The Melody Chord Finder will make it very easy to find these two chords. Maybe you will be clever enough to find out for yourself how to play them! Anyway, it's worth trying.

Also, next week, you will learn to play the prettiest piece of all, so far. It is a French Melody called "Little Wooden Shoes." In France, millions of boys and girls know and love this tune. Gradually it has spread to nearly all other countries.

Next week, too, you will begin to play your pieces in different keys, that is, with Do starting on G or on C, or, in fact, on any key. The Melody Key-Finder makes it easy to play in all keys. You simply slide the Key-Finder to the right or left so that Do falls on the key in which you want to play.

Major Scale

You will observe that the bottom row of squares on your Melody Key-

Do. Re. Mi. Fa. So. La. Ti. Do.

With the Key-Finder you will quickly learn all the major scales, simply by moving the Key-Finder so that Do lies over the key in which the piece is written. It is the key-note, Do, or one, of the major scale, that names the major key. For example, if Do, or one, begins on A, then the piece or song is said to be in the key of A Major. Maybe you will be curious enough to try this out, too, beforehand! You may be sure of this: There are good times ahead for the boys and girls of The Melody Way Club!

tor. This has become so evident that Mr. Shaw has retracted his statement that "he who can't, teaches."

The teacher has become a diagnostician. He no longer has to wait after the fact, but he can analyse each pupil's ability and apply work of instruction in an appropriate manner.

Teachers are becoming experts. Experimental education in universities and colleges is taking the place of the old "stands to reason" method of instruction. The technique of teaching is being worked out to the finest points.

FOUR CANDIDATES FOR 1928 APPLETON GRID CAPTAINCY

Schaefer, Kranhold Kunitz, Popp Favored For Football Leader

Orange Loses 11 Probable Letterwinners, but 9 Veterans Return Next Year

A four-cornered battle for the captaincy of the 1928 Appleton high school football team, involving two linemen and two backfield stars, is expected by followers of the team when the election takes place after the final game with Oshkosh high school at Oshkosh Thanksgiving day. Twenty members of the 1927 squad are in line for letters and of this number eleven graduates or are lost to the team of next fall. The remaining nine veterans include four sophomores or men who are playing their first year of football for the Orange.

The captaincy fight is expected to be between Schaefer, stellar end; Kranhold, guard; Popp, halfback, fullback, and guard; and Bobby Kunitz, halfback. The other men who probably will receive letters, who will be back in school next year, are Dett and Eitz, guards; DeYoung and Abraham, tackles; and Rankin, center. Berk, a halfback, also may receive a letter, while two sophomores who will be valuable additions next year, Breitrick guard and tackle, and Peterson, half and fullback, have not been in action enough to quite make the grade.

The heavy losses to the letter team, all of whom will be gone, leave Johnson, all-conference fullback; Capt. Getshoff, all-conference tackle; Strutz, Roemer, Bowby and Lieso, backs; Hartung, Dressing and Redlin, ends; Kruse, guard and tackle; and Kerrigan, center. Manager Bartz also will receive a letter.

NEENAH BASKETMEN PREP FOR APPLETON

Rivals in Hard Practices for Battle at Neenah Thanksgiving Eve

Handicapped by the loss of Stipp, former Neenah high school all-state forward, for several weeks, because of a leg injury, the Neenah-Menasha Yellowjackets are working overtime for their first game of the season, that with the strong Appleton professional squad, Thanksgiving night at S. A. Cook Armory. Neenah. An effort will be made to have Stipp play part of the game at least, but if he doesn't, a group of high class performers to depend on. And as for the practice the local unit also is putting in plenty of it at Alexander gymnasium and the members look good already for a tough season.

The Appleton team contains three members of Lawrence college's Midwest, state and Little Five championship team of a few years ago, Bries and Kotal, considered the best guard pair in the Midwest conference, containing leading colleges of three states and Zussman, who captained the title team. Zussman is a fighting forward and reports from Alexander gym say that he is ready for the biggest year of his career, with the best eye for the hoop he ever has shown and his leg unhampered by his old injury. Other members are Jacobson, all-state high school forward, who the Orange won the state title in 1921, Hillman, captain-elect of the Lawrence team this year, who left school; Besting, former Notre Dame player; and others.

HAVE MANY STARS
Beside Stipp, the Neenah hoopers include such men as Ehrigott, former Neenah high guard; Koerwitz, Neenah high guard the year the Red and White won the district meet from Fond du Lac and took fourth at Madison; Smith, Menasha high star for three years; Klotz, Menasha high's all district center; Lutz, former Appleton high all-Valley conference forward; Scheurle, former Appleton high school, Oshkosh Normal and Kimberly-Clark Co., guard and center; Algeo, former Marquette captain; Madson, Neenah star, who featured with the state title Fond du Lac Cardinal pro squad a few years back.

Thanksgiving night a preliminary game will be played at 7:15 between the Weber Clothiers and the Railroads. Neenah fives, and after the major battle a dance will be held until 1 o'clock with music by the Twin City Badger Royals.

Grades Cotton in Texas
Pete Deonch, Cincinnati pitcher, grades cotton in Fort Worth, Tex., during the winter months.

Plenty Of Tickets For Badger-Maroon Battle

Madison—The receipt of 3,500 additional tickets for the Chicago-Wisconsin game at the Midway Saturday, was followed by an announcement from the Badger ticket authorities Wednesday which assures all Badger fans of a chance to see the closing game of the season at Chicago.

In the past there have never been sufficient tickets allotted to Wisconsin. Hundreds of alumni and students, and thousands of public enthusiasts, were not permitted to see the annual classic with State's Maroons. This season, however, Business Manager Lewis acquired more tickets, with the increased capacity of State Field, and has just recently been granted another supply of the coveted postcards.

Word was released last week that alumni and students would be permitted to purchase tickets for the game, but the event they had hoped for previously, by or had neglected to make applications. Yesterday morning, at 8 o'clock the doors of the Ticket office, 711 Madison St., were thrown open to the general public, who for the first time have been

ZWICK MAKES HIT WITH BOXING FANS

Work of Kaukauna Boy in Milwaukee Called "Wow" of the Card

Milwaukee—No matter how much they are talking of Cohen, the "wow" of the show was lanky Phil Zwick, who put an end to the Billy Bonillas boom with a nasty right to the beard in the third. Zwick, a sweet puncher, filled Billy's face with leather and felled him twice before sending over the finisher.

The first knockdown was shortly after the bell in the opening round. He looked a right to the jaw and Billy went down. He was up immediately to take further punishment.

Again in the third Billy went down. That same right hand did it and Billy was lifted from his feet and fell face down. He hopped right up. Then a few moments of fiddling and Phil caught Bonillas going away. They could have counted sixty over Billy.

Bonillas had nothing but a (spitting) heart. His leads were mild lefts that were far short of the mark. What a contrast Zwick offered! Long and rangy, he is as effective in close as at the longer gunning. His left gave Bonillas three rounds of trouble and his right is a ticket to the mortician.

Your Uncle Thomas Andrews will be making no mistake if by sundown Wednesday night he has Zwick and Cohen paired. It will draw and should keep the addicts standing throughout.

RETSON-JIMOS TEAM WINS FROM AID MEN

Retson and Jimos Hat Cleaners took two games of a match with the A. A. L. bowling team in a match at the Aid Association alleys, winning the match by 159 pins. The Hat Cleaners dropped the first game by 22 pins and then took the second by 11 not enough to overcome the A. A. L. crew's first game lead. However, they rolled a 1012 to take the final battle by 170 pins.

W. Belling of the losers had high game of the match, 242, and aided by another game of 219, high series of 637. For the winners H. Kositzke had high game of 216 and high series of 603. Other 300 games were rolled by J. Behnke, Jr. and N. Brauer of the winners. Retson had a 203 and Brauer, 203 and 212.

MANY COACHES WANT GOALPOSTS RETURNED

New York — Bring the goal post back, is the cry of football coaches from coast to coast. The rule moving posts 10 yards beyond the playing field was regarded as a reform that would be popular. It isn't, for the change is the most disliked of all shifts.

Goals from the field, one of the most interesting features of football, slumped terribly under the new rule. It has also removed the value of a kicking specialist.

It is certain that a concerted move will be made by the football mentors to bring the goal posts back to where they belong, the end of the playing field.

CUTBILL ANXIOUS TO RETURN TO RACE TRACK

New York—(P)—Eager to remove a four-year-old blot from his record and be in position to re-enter amateur foot-racing competition if he desired, Harold C. Cutbill, 30-year-old Boston clergyman, has applied to the amateur athletic union for reinstatement.

Famous several years ago as the "flying parson" and one of the East's leading middle distance runners, Cutbill had his amateur career cut short in 1923 when he was suspended on charges of receiving excessive traveling expenses. He now asks that these charges be reconsidered and his record cleared.

Although out of competition for four years Cutbill, if reinstated, may try racing again.

Cleveland — Eddie Shea, Chicago, won on a foul from Johnny Hill, Philippines, (S).

ST. JOSEPH ELEVEN KEEPS RECORD CLEAN

Junior Highs Beat St. Mary of Menasha; Claim City Title

St. Joseph school griders kept their 1927 state clean Sunday afternoon, trouncing the St. Mary junior highs of Menasha, 37-0, at Wilson school field. The Appleton eleven ran up a 19-0 count at the end of the first quarter and substitutes finished the game. Cpt. Paul Grieshaber, quarterback, was the star of the rearward, closely followed by Bartman, Trent and Rechner. In the line Hoeker and Alexander, ends, played stellar ball.

The St. Joe eleven is undefeated this year and its string of wins includes a 12-6 triumph over the Appleton high school seconds and thirds and a win from Cathedral high, Green Bay junior high champions. The team challenges any junior high school in the state to a game, especially Roosevelt junior highs of Appleton, which won a high league championship for three years since the local junior high league was formed.

As Roosevelt has refused to meet St. Joseph, the Catholic griders claim at least a joint hold on the city junior high title, if not a full hold as Roosevelt refuses to answer a challenge.

TOUCHSTONE VS. DORVAL
New York—(P)—Benny Touchstone, Miami heavyweight, will oppose Jack Dorval of New York in a feature 10 round bout at Madison Square garden Friday, substituting for the cancelled Sharkey-Henney scrap.

HORNSBY CLAIMS ALEX. HAINES DESERVE HONOR

New York—While the feeling prevails that Paul Waner of the Pittsburgh Pirates will be named the most valuable player in the National League, there are several dissenting in that opinion.

Rogers Hornsby of the Giants, who managed the St. Louis Cardinals to a world's title says he believes either Grover Alexander or Jesse Haines, of the Cards' pitching staff, did more for their club.

"It is hard for any outfielder to win 20 ball games largely through individual effort, yet both Haines and Alexander turned such a trick for St. Louis.

"Waner really is a great ball player but there is a question whether he was more valuable than either of the two St. Louis pitchers I have named."

ARMY BEAT ROCKNE'S IRISH ON "FOURFLUSH"

New York—(P)—It now appears that Knute Rockne's Notre Dame team was beaten last Saturday by a fourth flush.

"After we beat the Army in 1926," Knute related, "Bill Jones, Army coach, asked me why we always knew when Harry Wilson, the Cadet star, was going to carry the ball. I told him that Harry's face always flushed when his signal was called.

"As a result this year we didn't know which one to go after—and that's the first time a team of mine ever was beaten by a fourth flush."

Los Angeles—King Tut, Minneapolis, outpointed Pedro Amador, Panama, (10).

JOEY SHADES COHEN IN MILWAUKEE BOUT

Phil Zwick Knocks Out Billy Bonillas in Third Round

Milwaukee—(P)—Hometown newspapermen gave Joey Sangor a slight margin in his 10 round mill Tuesday night with Mickey Cohen of Denver. The scrap was the feature of a boxing program at the Auditorium.

The brilliant attack that twice swept over Bud Taylor to victory was missing from Sangor's repertoire Tuesday night and to meet his offense, Cohen in his first big fight displayed a versatility that permitted him to mix slug ging and boxing.

Cohen displayed his best wares early in the fight taking the third, fourth and fifth round and forcing Sangor to open-up in order to save himself from defeat. It was a hard night for the little Milwaukee featherweight.

Other newspaper decisions of the card:

Phil Zwick Cleveland, knocked out Billy Bonillas Taft, Calif., in three rounds.

Mike O'Neil won on technical knockout in fourth over Jack Boas Oshkosh.

Wildcat Jack Murphy won on technical knockout in third round over Billy O'Brien Rockford.

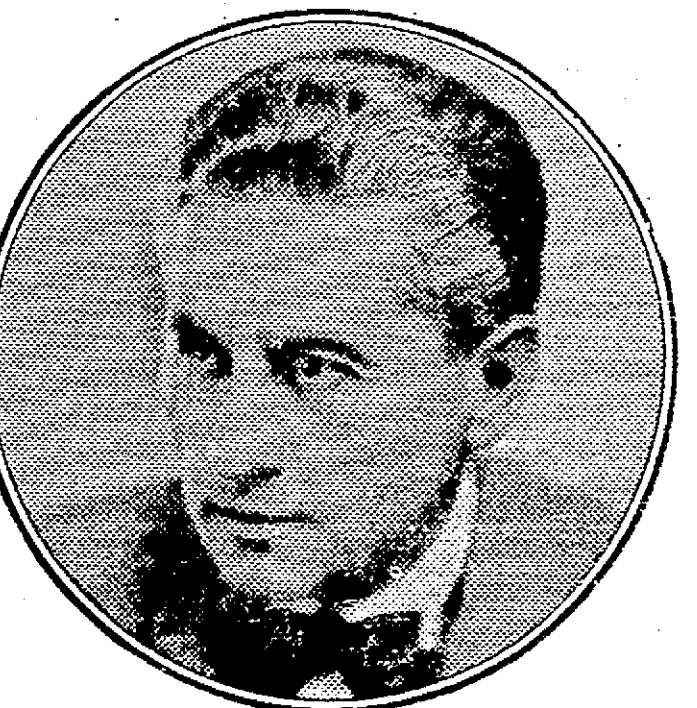

Chicago—(P)—Pete Bross, Rockford Ill., defeated Billy Shewers, St. Paul, Minn., (10). Bias Rodriguez, Mexico City, won from Tommy Milton, Brooklyn, N. Y., (10).

START HOME ROOM CAGE TOURNEY AT HIGH SCHOOL GYM

26 Teams Clash in Single Elimination Basket Meet at Appleton High

A novel idea in intermural athletics will be started next week at Appleton high school by Joseph Shields, director of athletics, when 26 teams will start play in an "intermural basketball tournament." Every home room of the school, 26 in all, will have a basketball team on which even lettermen of the school and "ineligibles" for athletics will be allowed to play.

The meet, opening next week, will run every afternoon after school and it will be a single elimination tourney. Thirteen games will be played in the first series, the losers dropping from the race and the winners advancing a round. In the next round six games will be played with one team drawing a bye in the third round three games will be played with a bye again being drawn because of the extra team. This will leave four teams, the three winners and the bye quint, to meet in two games, the semi-finals, and the two winners will clash in the finals for the school title.

It is expected that material for the annual interclass tournament of the school, which will follow immediately after the home room meet, and the school first team will be brought to light by the meet.

PECK WANTS MANAGERS JOB IN MAJOR LEAGUE

Cleveland—Roger Peckinpah, famous shortstop of the American League who winters in this city, realizes his playing days are about over and has expressed a desire to take a whirl at the managerial game.

While not able to play regularly since his legs give him considerable trouble, Peckinpah is still able to fill utility roles at any spot in the infield. He would be a cross between the player and non-player manager.

Peckinpah has received a number of offers to pilot minor league clubs but would prefer a chance in the majors. Peck isn't entirely new to the game. When Frank Chance resigned as manager of the New York Americans, the club finished out the season with Peck as leader.

"I would prefer a chance in the majors," says Peck, "since I fell I am better equipped to succeed, knowing the strength and weakness of every player."

Autumn Breezes Reminding Car Owners Winter Is Due

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

A stiff autumn breeze and we're reminded that winter's coming.

That means considerable preparation for cold weather driving, if we're to enjoy the car during the next five or six months. What this preparation will be covered in this and the next few of this series of articles.

It is mainly preparation of the running parts of the car, but it actually means entire overhauling of the machine for winter driving.

It means change of lubrication to fit cold weather. It entails clearing and overhauling of the engine, especially the immediate parts having to do with the combustion of the gasoline and air mixture.

It demands more attention for the battery and ignition system.

It covers a change in the cooling system and checking of the parts that make up this important part of the machinery.

HEAT THE CAR

And it requires consideration for the passengers in the form of wind-proof body and appliances for heating the car, to make winter driving pleasant.

Even the tires go in for special attention, and extra precautions must be taken with them to avoid serious mishaps so common in winter.

It is an anomalous situation that permits automobiles to go through an entire winter in a run-down, uncared

CHICAGO BADGERS HOLD ANNUAL FOOTBALL DINNER

Madison—(AP)—The annual Wisconsin football banquet sponsored by the University of Wisconsin club of Chicago will be held at La Salle hotel in Chicago next Friday night on the eve of the Wisconsin-Chicago football game.

Pres. Glenn Frank, Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite, George Little, director of athletics, Prof. J. F. A. Pyre from the university, Governor Fred R. Zimmerman, Arlio Muecks, Judge "Ikey" Karel, and other Badger stars are scheduled to attend.

The university band will attend and play at the banquet. Men of the Wisconsin alumni association are particularly invited to attend the stag dinner.

COUNTY ROADWORK IS DELAYED BY WEATHER

Roadwork in the county has been considerably delayed during the past two days as a result of the incessant rains, according to A. G. Drusevitz, county highway commissioner. There still are several small repair jobs to be completed and the fear was expressed by Mr. Drusevitz that unless at least a week of good weather follows the rains, it will be necessary to delay the improvement of these roads until next spring. If cold weather and snow follow the rains the maintenance highway crews will be dismissed for the winter.

Building for Tomorrow

The name of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has gathered meaning with the years.

Today it is more than just the title of a big organization. It has come to be a synonym for service. It has come to stand for certain definite things—for dependable quality—for fair prices and fair dealing—for courtesy and friendliness.

Throughout the length and breadth of more than six hundred thousand square miles of territory this name is known and liked and depended upon.

It has taken years for the name of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to acquire its present significance in ten great states.

Good reputations are quickly shattered but slowly built. The mere rumor that a thing is bad is immediately broadcast, but it must be proved good before the news is spread.

The reputation which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) enjoys today is the achievement of painstaking effort and uncompromising standards over a long period of years.

Every employee of the 29,000 has had to go about his work with loyalty and earnestness and thoughtfulness for others. Every gallon of the millions sold by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has had to measure up to the standards it has set. Every quart of lubricating oil sold anywhere at any time in all its territory has had to "live up" to its reputation for excellence.

In building the kind of reputation for dependability which this Company has attained there can be no slip-up—anywhere—anytime—even in the smallest detail. Courtesy must be unfailing. Quality must be unvarying.

The present reputation of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the result of yesterday's building. Tomorrow it will be held responsible for the deeds of today and future demands for its service will depend upon its present capacity to serve.

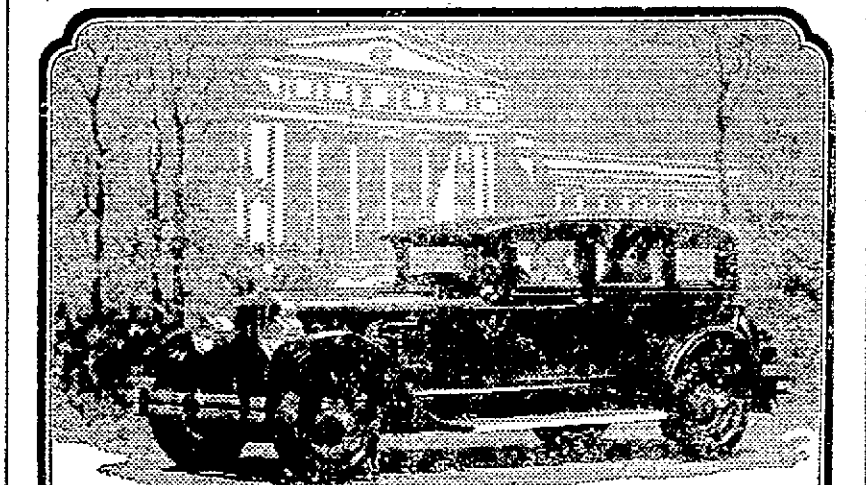

The primary interest of this Company is the service its products give, rather than the sale of the products.

It would not be profitable for this Company to concern itself primarily with profits—to be interested only in sales. The sales and the profits of the future will be in proportion to the satisfaction given by its products and its service in the past.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is not a one-generation business. Its work is too deeply rooted in human need. It has a larger perspective. Behind it stretches a past of which it is justly proud—before it a future for which it is building today a foundation of service deep, enduring and permanent.

JACK LOCKWILL'S FOREST RANGERS

"Probably that dog belongs to Paul Varden or his guide," said McNally. "I guess we'd been in a pack of trouble if you'd killed the creature." "I wish I'd got him, trouble or no trouble!" replied Lockwill, still aflame with indignation. The clamor of the furious chase receded. Presently, from far, far away there came the sound of another rifle shot.

Then a great silence fell on the forest. A sigh came from Jack, almost a sob. "That's the end!" he muttered. "Now we'll never photograph the white buck! He's dead!"

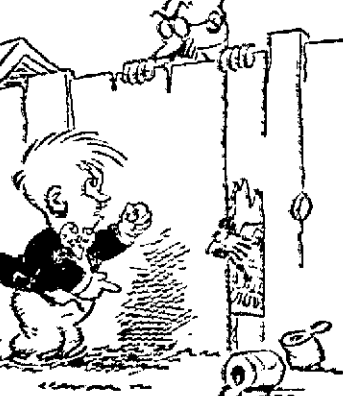

Oppressed and saddened by the conviction that the white deer had been shot, the boys lingered there. A black cloud crept up the sky, thunder rumbled, a wind rose.

A panting man, half-naked and smoke-smudged, came stumbling and hurrying across the clearing. He was Old Hunchy, and he stopped at sight of the boys. "They burnt my camp!" he jabbered. "Varden told 'em to do it! I know he did! And he shot the critter! But he won't shoot no more! I got him! He's tied to a tree--tied fast! I've set the woods afire! Let him burn!" (To Be Continued)
